Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Sunday 03 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Frost and fog overnight, showers continue into tomorrow.

This Evening and Tonight:
Scattered showers are possible through the evening and overnight for many, especially eastern areas. Westernmost areas will see the driest conditions and clearer skies, bringing a risk of frost and icy patches. Feeling cold, with fog likely for prone areas. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Monday:
A frosty morning for some, then patchy cloud and scattered showers likely throughout, possibly wintry over eastern hills. Western areas will see the best clear and dry spells. Feeling cold. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Cloud and wintry showers on Tuesday, especially for eastern areas. Drier with bright spells on Wednesday. Further rain arriving on Thursday. Remaining cold with a risk of overnight frost throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.